

Light in the Darkness

Make no mistake, our lives will have seasons of darkness. There will be days when the difficulties of life close in around us and seem to swallow us whole. Days when the brokenness of our immediate situation seems suffocating and inescapable. For many, the unrelenting cold and darkness of North Idaho winter can compound the very real loneliness, worry, and fear that may be in our lives. If you are like me, your natural inclination when confronted with darkness is to wallow in it, allowing the shadows to permeate your perception of the world around you. When I embrace darkness, my mind sinks to the extremes. The fact that I find myself alone one afternoon must mean that I am unlikeable and have been rejected by everyone. The fact that I am having trouble figuring out how to pay my bills means I am destined to always be broke and die as a destitute pauper. I make a mistake and hurt someone I care about and I see my entire life, past, present and future, as a curse to the world. Darkness has a subtle sort-of seduction to it. Embracing our darkness is a way of letting ourselves off the hook. If we assume that the worst is true, then there is no hope in trying to live differently. Why not avoid friends, run up the credit card, continue acting out in ways that hurt others? After all everything is already lost.

We live in a world that bombards us with darkness every day. It is so easy to succumb to the darkness, to give-up, give-in, or strike out. The coming of Jesus into the world denounces such living, and calls us to walk toward that dim flickering light that is always there, even if we may have to turn around to see it. While there may be many lights in our lives there is one light that is constant and unwavering--even though it may feel dim and distant. January brings with it the Church season of Epiphany. The primary metaphor for Epiphany is that Jesus is the "light shining in the darkness and the darkness has not overcome it." Throughout the season of Epiphany (which stands between Christmas and Lent) we explore the myriad of ways Jesus' light surprisingly shows up in our lives. We learn to open our eyes and turn towards the remarkable warmth of Jesus' radiance --and more than that, we learn to reflect and share that light. This season of Epiphany is so vital in our journey of faith, because the reality is that, because of sin, we do not naturally know see, feel, or experience the love of Christ in our lives. That light is always there but we often miss it completely, because our attention is locked into the world's dark shadows.

When confronted with the darkness in our lives, it is often hard to take our attention away from that pain. It takes conscious decisions and lifelong practice for humans to take our focus away from the shadows and experience the light of Christ. Like Rocky training for the big fight with that funky brass playing in the background, Epiphany is our season to equip, train, and strengthen ourselves to see and reflect the light of Jesus' love. Like Rocky, our fight with the shadowy heartache of the world is not a one-and-done event: there will always be another bout of darkness coming, but the light will always be stronger.

One of the reasons the Love of God is often hard to discern in our lives is that it comes in varied and unexpected forms. We feel lonely, the darkness seduces us to focus on questions of why no-one cares, the light shows up when we are made aware of another in need of comfort and we can choose to see our own loneliness or to step out and bear the love of God into another's lonely night. We come face to face with our own failure, the shadows echo our self-doubt in our aching soul, a glimmer of pierces the veil when the void created opens an opportunity to try something different. A relationship is falling apart, and for the first time in forever, you have the opportunity for real gentle honesty because there is nothing left to lose. Darkness calls us to get even, defend ourselves, claim victimhood, hide our brokenness, and to hoard. Christ's light invites us to give up keeping score, defend others, seek the other's well-being, be vulnerable, and to be generous. The worlds shadowy ways always leave us cowering alone with our self-doubt, self-pity, and fear. The love of Christ offers a path of fellowship, healing, solidarity, peace, and hope.

It seems that in the Gospels the spark of Hope is the heart of what Jesus brings to disrupt the darkness by igniting the bonfire that is faith. The world tells the blind, lame, and lepers that they are untouchably cursed. Jesus reaches out to touch, heal, and befriend. The hardship of disability remains but now there is more to the story, and the promise that "the more" will win. A woman is caught in adultery, by law her life is forfeited. Jesus demonstrates that she is not alone in her sin, nor does that sin define her. The consequences of infidelity remain, but there is more: there is hope to move beyond, and the promise that her worth is not determined by her failure. The poor are powerless in a government and religious systems that only allow those with means and power to fully participate. Jesus celebrates, eats and teaches the poor on the hills and in the valleys, away from the halls of power, giving the promise they too have full access to the grace of God. Ultimately God's light brings hope that because of the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ, all of humanity has access to the forgiveness of God and the promise of a day when every tear will be wiped dry, pain and suffering will be no more, and death will meet its demise.

When we choose to look to this hope, to live in this light, we can not help but reflect the light and love of Christ. We then become the spark of hope that ignites the flames of faith in the lives of others. When we choose to reach out rather than isolate, when we choose to see the pain in the lives of those who hurt us rather than take on the role of victim, and when we choose to trust that (in the eyes of God) our failures do not define us--then the Church becomes an inferno that has the ability to obliterate the darkness that fills so many lives. This Epiphany we are faced with a choice: either we equip ourselves to see and be the light of Jesus, or we resign ourselves and our neighbors to a world dominated by darkness.

Your Generosity at Work

On Christmas Eve, it is Pastor Matt's habit to visit most, if not all, of our congregation members who are likely to be isolated for Christmas because of health concerns, mobility, age, or simply because of a lack of family in the area. This year, each time he stopped in to visit with folks they expressed deep thanks for the gift baskets that were prepared for them by the congregation. Those baskets had been delivered just a day or two earlier and the gifts meant more than you can imagine. So many of you provided items to be shared, or money to help purchase items.

Special thanks go out to Linda Flemming and Cory English for the extra work they did on this project. There was a fair amount of wondering about what the right things to provide in such gift baskets would be. You did an amazing job of picking the right things, but in reality, it wasn't the content of the baskets that was most important. The reality that you were thinking of, and praying for, people who are often out-of-sight meant so very much. Richard Stokes might have put it best when he said, "What a great bunch of folks we have at our Church."

Thank you for your generosity. PASTOR MATT

Ah Ha! – Epiphany!

Chili Feed and Fireside Worship

January 6th (Sunday) at Calvary Lutheran Church – Post Falls

- 5:30 p.m. Chili Feed: Why cook diner, come join us as we eat some great chili and cornbread with all the fix'ns. The meal is free. An offering will be collected to fight malaria in Africa.
- Three Kings Crafts and Games for Kids: On January 6th we celebrate the arrival of the three kings as they brought their gifts to Jesus. The evening will be filled with fun games, a scavenger hunt, and even a visit from the Kings themselves. Children are encouraged to dress as Kings and Queens for this event.
- 6:30 p.m. Firelight Epiphany Service with burning of the Greens: Bring a warm coat and a head lamp if you have one. Weather permitting; this 20 minute service will take place outside around a large, warm fire. Bring a small piece of your Christmas tree or wreath to throw into the fire as we celebrate the light of the World coming to all people. Children love this service and we will have some spare headlamps and greens available.

Tribe Camp @

LUTHERHAVEN

A Week of camp for the entire Calvary Lutheran Family

June 23rd to 28th

Tribe Camp is a time for adults and kids of all ages to spend a week at Lutherhaven growing in their relationships with God and with one another. Adults spend time taking on service projects at camp, helping lead crafts and activities, helping in the kitchen and doing all sorts of little things to make camp happen. Of course there is lots of time for rest and recreation as well. Kids participate in Lutherhaven's camp program with other kids their age, usually sharing a cabin with other kids from Calvary. Each day we have an hour of Tribe time where all Calvary's kids and adults come together for a fun activity.

Adults:     $35.00 (Paid to Lutherrhaven at Registration)

- Lunch and Dinner in the dining hall are included
- Lodging Options Include: Tent Camping, RV Campsites, & the Retreat Center
- Opportunities to interact with our kids during meals, crafts , worship , and "Tribe Time"

News from Peace Rehabilitation Center in Nepal.

Calvary supports Peace Rehabilitation Center through benevolence giving, and also in our prayers. To learn more, talk to Cory English, Dennis Wilson, Kathy Darrar, or Pastor Matt. You can find out more by visiting the webpage, www.peacerehab.org.

“You did not choose me, but I chose you and appointed you to go and bear fruit that will last. Then the Father will give you whatever you ask in my name.” John 15:16

In April the PRC Krishnananagar border staff, along with local and district law enforcement, rescued 9 minor boys, ages 9-14, from forced labor in hotels and restaurants along the Nepal/India border. PRC became aware of these boys a few months ago and has since been gathering information to hand over to the District Administration Office (DAO). The head of the DAO is the Chief District Officer, who is also the chairman of the District Children Welfare Committee. ..The length of time the boys had been in fore labor ranged from 8 months to 2 years. All the boys are from un-touchable tribes and were taken out of school by a parent or family member and dropped off at a hotel or restaurant to work...The rescued boys will be returned to their families only if they agree to send their boys to school. If not, PRC has found a Childrens home run by a Nepali Christian woman who will take care of the boys and give them an education!

We are so thankful to the Lord for the rescue of these boys and the opportunity for them to hear about Jesus at the Childrens’ home.

Sincerely, Carmen Grunewald, North American Associate Director

CALVARY LUTHERAN PRESCHOOL
JANUARY NEWSLETTER 2019

Happy New Year! We hope you enjoyed the holidays. Welcome back! Continue to listen to the radio station KVNI 1080 AM for school closures. Our preschool is closed when the Post Falls School District is closed due to extreme weather.

During January, we will be reviewing the letters A-K, and introducing the letters L, M, and N. We will practice writing our names, work on recognizing the beginning sounds of words, and introduce the colors blue and purple. We will review the color red, the number 5, and the circle shape.

Dates to remember:

January - Field trip to Super 1 – 10:00. More information to follow.

We will be looking for a day to have a snow/pajama day, if the weather cooperates. Notes will come home prior to this day!

Our Bible verses are:

1 Samuel 3:10 - “Then Samuel said, ‘Speak, for your servant is listening.’”

Ephesians 4:32 – “Be kind to one another.”

Reminders:

Please take your child to the restroom prior to the start of preschool.

January tuition is now due. Avoid the $5.00 late charge. Thank you!!!

Games...Games...Games... Use the bingo games that went home today. Have your child recite the poems with each of the letters. Cc and Kk are the same poem. Write down one word for each of the letters A-K. Mix them up. Read the word to your child and see if they can place the first letter sound with one of the poems on their bingo card. Some students will need extra help. Stress the first letter sounds in the word and on their bingo card.

Thank you, !!! Mrs Meehan

Caring & Fellowship

Happy New Year! Caring and Fellowship is jumping right into the New Year. Our Team meetings are the first Wednesday of the month. So we will meet on January 2 at 3:30 in the Fellowship Hall. We will discuss the upcoming Ladies Tea as Spring is, hopefully, going to be coming up quickly! This year's theme is Tea in the Quilt Shop. Baskets are already being prepared and decorations kicking into high gear.

Many thanks to those who donated to our Baskets of Blessings for our church family members who find it difficult to join us on Sundays. They were very much appreciated and brought Christmas joy. Thanks to our shopping elf, Cory English, who graciously filled out our needs list, and did the shopping, with her Thrivent Dollars.

We wish you every blessing in 2019

Your Caring and Fellowship Team-

Linda Fleming, Pat Goss, Chris Cook, Dee Cox, Venus Harmon, Brenda Deggett and Alene Jones.

Thank you's from Christmas time:

"Thank-you so much for the wonderful Gift basket. This is the nicest gift I have ever received!. God Bless those who pu the baskets of wonderful items together! Love in Christ, Nancy Savage"

Thank You, Thank You, Thank You!

On behalf of my family I would like to express my deep thanks for the Christmas gifts given to us by the congregation this year. What a wonderful multitude of gifts including movie tickets, gift cards for restaurants, famous homemade fruit cake, a fun game, and so much more. We really are blessed to be a part of the Calvary Family. Thank you for the care that you show us. Your brother in Christ, Pastor Matt

Mark your calendars:

Calvary's Annual Meeting is scheduled for Sunday, January 27, 2019. All members and friends of Calvary are invited. The meeting will happen along with Fellowship Hour on this Sunday.

We will review the 2019 proposed church budget. We will view a power point presentation on a possibility for the church's extra lot. We will vote for church council members and other positions. We will learn what the Council's Teams have accomplished this past year.

Prepare to come to learn about Calvary's past year and about an exciting future for God's church, Calvary Lutheran Church.

Pamela Arnold, Church Council President
