What is in a Web-Page?

In December we launched our new web page at www.calvarypostfalls.com. If you haven't had a chance to check it out yet, please take a few moments to do that. We are proud of this web page, it took a lot of work to put it together and we believe it is one of the best church web-pages we have seen. This is a pretty big deal for Calvary, but it may not be important in the way that you are thinking it is. While our web-page is now our primary means of advertising Calvary, more than that it is a tool that you can use as you do the work of inviting others to be a part of the Calvary Family.

Advertising a church is a funny thing. Normally when you place an ad your goal is to entice people into paying money for you a particular good or service. The goal of your advertising is to get as many people as possible to spend as much money as possible with you rather than with others. It is explicitly expected that you are trying to draw customers away from others who may be selling a similar product. In general advertising is about maximizing profit. Advertising for a church is different.

We are not selling anything, and while we do ask people to contribute their time, talent, and treasure towards Calvary's ministries, our goal is never to fill the offering plate. More than this, we really are not interested in encouraging people to leave a Christian congregation where they are actively engaged so that they can worship with us. We really are not at all interested in "market share," and while we work towards being financially sustainable we also are not interested in maximizing profit. So if our advertising is not about gaining market share or maximizing profit, what is church advertising about?

Our mission is to tell of Christ's love as we care for all people and God's creation. As we work to tell people of Jesus love we are also inviting them to respond. The response that God most earnestly wants from each of us is that we would decide to live as Jesus' disciple. That is so that we would live our lives in such a way that we in turn, go on to tell others about Christ's love and to care for others. There are a lot of people in Post Falls and Kootenai county who, in all honesty, have not heard about Jesus love in a way that they trust it.

Calvary is a place where people can not only hear, but also experience Jesus' love for them, but it is hard to have that experience if they never get a chance to interact with our congregation. This is where our web-page comes in. There are some people who for whatever reason are looking for a church, and research shows us that the first thing the vast majority of people do, no matter their age, when they are looking for a church is to search online. Those people will browse a couple of web-pages and then decide if they are going to visit a congregation. It is likely that we will see a small increase in first time visitors to Calvary because of our new web-page, but in all honesty this really is not very effective advertising. For the average person who is just blindly looking for churches online the primary deciding factors that determine if they will visit that congregation are location, service time, and affiliation with a particular denomination or tradition. The vast majority of people who have not heard about Jesus' love for them in a way that they can trust, will not be looking for a church. They won't look online, they won't look in the yellow pages, they won't look in the paper.

That is right, there is no advertising, by itself, which is effective at drawing in those who are most in need of Jesus' love, because generally they aren't looking for a church. Think about it this way, if you don't realize that your dishwasher needs replacing how much time do you spend looking at ads for appliance stores in the newspaper?

If we want to draw people to Calvary so they can hear about Jesus' love and join us in our mission to share that love and care for other's, you have to be the primary means of advertising. You need to take moments in your conversations to tell you friends, co-workers, and family about the ways you are blessed by your congregation. When you do this, our web-page becomes an effective tool for you to let people understand more clearly what you are explaining to them. Each month our web-page will be updated in a way that shares what is currently going on at Calvary. After you tell someone about something meaningful you did at Calvary, or even better—something fun or meaningful coming up at Calvary, you can invite them to check it out on our web-page. Advertising agents know that the combination of a personal invitation or referral combined with an easy low risk means for someone to investigate the details of the invitation, make a powerful combination. Our web-page very clearly tells the story of Calvary Lutheran Church in a way that people who are curious can get enough information about who we are, without having to take the risk of showing up for a service, or event, to know if Calvary might be the kind of place they are interested in. It is also designed to help raise curiosity so that while giving plenty of information, it also encourages folks to come and check us out for themselves.

Our web address is very easy to remember www.calvarypostfalls.com. Please take the time to explore our web-page, and more importantly, take the initiative to share it with a friend.

Blessings for the New Year, Pastor Matt

THE VILLAGE AT ORCHARD RIDGE

THANK YOU to our member churches and church members for the beautiful baskets provided to our residents for Christmas and your many generous gifts that help us continue to provide a compassionate and charitable mission. Your generosity helps us to carry out our mission of providing a faith-based loving home that honors older adults. It is often difficult to know when an aging parent needs more help or would benefit from assisted living. Here are a few questions to help you with what is sometimes a challenging decision. Are there signs your loved one is falling or experiencing balance problems?

Is your loved one's refrigerator empty or filled with spoiled food? Are they losing weight?

Is your loved one wearing the same clothes when you visit? Can they bathe themselves, groom adequately and launder clothes?

Is your loved one's home or yard as neat and clean as it used to be?

Is your loved one more forgetful, often not remembering to take medications correctly (dosages and on time) or keep appointments?

Is your loved one able to operate appliances safely?

Is the home equipped with safety features such as grab bars and emergency responses systems?

Are they driving? Should they be driving? Is there another means of transportation?

Are there stacks of papers and unpaid bills lying around?

Does your loved one appear depressed? Are they isolated from others most of the time, or no longer want to socialize?

When you really look at your loved one, do you see the bright and vibrant person from years ago?

We are here to discuss if assisted living/memory care is right for your loved one. We currently have rooms available.

For more information, please call Connie Wills, Admissions Director, at 664-8119, or visit our website at

There is a Program in conjunction with PRC called Free For Life. It accomplishes its mission through four main areas, which we like to call our 4 S's. Two of our 4 S's are sustainable programs and scholarships. Free for Life, along with our partners at Peace Rehabilitation Center in Nepal launched our tailoring classes in July 2013 which are supported through our scholarship program. Right now we have 3 tailoring classes open training 56 girls the skill of tailoring over the next 6 months. The first of these first 3 classes will graduate soon with the other two to follow in the next few months.

At the specific request of each of our partner border monitoring stations, and border office with PRC, we opened the first 3 tailoring classes at each station (Krishnanagar and Kodari and Rasuwa). The purpose of the tailoring program was to help the girls that were identified as being at highest risk of being trafficked or who were rescued from trafficking through the border stations to have the opportunity to learn the skill of tailoring and become self-sustaining. We have seen the success of such a program before, as in the story of Meena. Meena was rescued at one of the border stations and taken to the main PRC safe shelter, where she learned the skill of tailoring. Meena eventually went back to her village, where she opened a tailoring shop and taught 30 other girls the skill of tailoring! This is a prime example of just how sustainable the skill of tailoring is in this particular area, where most of the clothes are handmade. And it only gets better! Free for Life and Peace Rehabilitation Center are delighted to have Meena as the program director for our tailoring classes!

Thanks to the generosity of our supporters, we are proud to announce that we have raised enough funds to provide 56 scholarships in 2013 for all classes and supplies that year. We could not open these classes without your partnership. In addition, your support provided the funds to give each graduate of the first three classes her own sewing machine as a graduation gift.

As the first round of classes near completion, Free for Life, along with our PRC partners, has taken time to reassess the program. Free for Life and PRC are committed to continually evaluating all of our programs as we see what works and what could be improved. We are so glad that each of the graduates from the first three classes will be able to have her own sewing machine in addition to the 6-month tailor class she was given as a scholarship. We want to ensure that girls at high risk of being trafficked or rescued from slavery continue to have sustainable opportunities in the future.

This is why we are making the giving of sewing machines to girls at the end of graduation into a combination grant and micro loan just for the machines. The way this portion will work is that the girls that have graduated the 6-month tailoring program and who have expressed the desire and commitment to making tailoring her career will be eligible for a sewing machine. The girls that take the micro loans will also be empowered knowing they are sewing back into the next class of girls that want to make tailoring her new career. Over the past 6 months PRC has through community feedback and evaluation of this new program with the girls made the recommendation that we develop a micro loan program for the sewing machines instead of them just being outright graduation gifts.

Look up the website to be able to be part of this training ministry! We thank you for your generosity, in changing lives for eternity.

This very worthy program has helped many families to get back on their feet! Facts for 2015:

- ◆ We serve on the average 18 families per year

Calvary Companions news:

Our group meets on Tuesday, January 19, from 7:00 - 8:30 p.m. We are back to our regular third Tuesday meeting date.

And we are continuing our presentation and discussion of anticipatory grief. Everyone knows something about this from experience. We'll just describe the experience in a hopefully helpful way and then discuss it. Anyone is welcome to attend; our regular group will welcome anyone who wants to sit in. And hopefully it will help all of us in caring conversation.

CALVARY LUTHERAN PRESCHOOL
JANUARY NEWSLETTER 2016

Happy New Year! We hope you enjoyed the holidays. Welcome back! Continue to listen to the radio station KVNI 1080 AM for school closures. Our preschool is closed when the Post Falls School District is closed due to extreme weather.

During January, we will be reviewing the letters A-K, and introducing the letters L, M, and N. We will practice writing our names, work on recognizing the beginning sounds of words, and introduce the colors blue and purple. We will review the color red, the number 5, and the circle shape.

Our Bible verses are:

Psalm 100:2 – “Serve the Lord with gladness.”

Ephesians 4:32 – “Be kind to one another.”

Reminders:

Please take your child to the restroom prior to the start of preschool. January tuition is now due. Avoid the $5.00 late charge. Thank you!!!

Games...Games...Games... Use the bingo games that went home today. Have your child recite the poems with each of the letters. Cc and Kk are the same poem. Write down one word for each of the letters A-K. Mix them up. Read the word to your child and see if they can place the first letter sound with one of the poems on their bingo card. Some students will need extra help. Stress the first letter sounds in the word and on their bingo card.

Blessings for a Wonderful NEWYEAR,

Jodene Meehan

....and the wonder goes on after Christmas:

This church gives to families every year with such a generous spirit, never knowing what the results were—praying for the families and wishing them well. Now, here is the rest of the story, in a thank you note for the congregation to read, knowing all of your efforts were appreciated (grab a Kleenex):

“To the kind and generous elves that adopted our family this Christmas!

Words truly can not describe the gratitude and surprise that my little family experienced when we received the incredible gifts from members of your church. The thought, effort and quality of each gift blew us away. We will truly treasure the feelings we experienced from your generosity and the gifts themselves for a very long time..

Phoenix and Eden are in LOVE with their new bikes and wagon! Eden has been riding her new little tryke constantly around the house. The clothes, coats, oil changes, sheets, make-up, etc will be put to good use!

I went through a tough divorce last year into this year. The kids and I have been living with my parents since the summer of last year. I had a tough experience with my ex-husband last month (Nov.) that led me into the police station and into contact with Bridget. When she initially called and asked if they could help us with Christmas this year, I had a hard time accepting.

The kids and I live a simple life, but we have been blessed to not want for the basic necessities. I had a few simple presents picked out for both kids this year. The things your church bought for us were things I definitely wouldn't have been able to buy this year. They transformed our simple Christmas into something truly blessed.

You were all angels to our family this Christmas and the examples to us of Christ-like love and service to your fellow man.

We will share the story of your kindness with others and will seek to show the kindness and love towards others by paying forward. May the Lord bless each and every one of you and your families throughout this new year!

Love, from Lauren, Phoenix and Eden”
